

It has been a tremendous relief to me to have my telephone back. Before the Indiana "Do not call list" was made available, it had come to the point where I dreaded the telephone ringing. I pay for the phone, and I am glad that the Indiana law gave me the choice to ban telemarketing calls. Please do not allow anything to weaken this law which has restored to me some peace and privacy in my own home, and has given me control over my own phone.
